1. Living and working in Australia

If you are not an Australian citizen or New Zealand Citizen, you will need to obtain a valid Visa to live and work in Australia. We have listed the most common Visa's below, however as we are not a migration agency it is essential you use Australian Government website for the most up to date information on eligibility, restrictions, and requirements.

Australian Government - Getting a Visa

(1.1) Working Holiday Visa

Cost = $510.00 + Police Checks + Health Checks

Length = 12 Months in the first instance

To obtain a Working Holiday Visa, you must not have dependent children that you intend to bring to Australia. This Visa is offered in three stages and requires 'specified work' to be complete, to obtain the 2nd and 3rd year visa options.

- First year visa is 12 months in length, to apply for 2nd year Visa you must complete 3 months of specified work
- Second year visa is 12 months in length, to apply for 3rd year Visa, you must complete 6 months of specified work
- Third year visa is 12 months in length. There is no option to stay in Australia after this point, on this visa type. You must look at other routes to stay in the country.

Up until June 30th, 2023, the Work Restriction 8547 has been relaxed, meaning you can be employed by the same employer for +6 months. From the 1st of July 2023, this restriction is reinstated.

(1.2) Partner Visa

Cost = $8,085.00

Length = Indefinite, this is a route to Permanent Residency

If you have a partner who is an Australia Citizen, New Zealand Citizen or Permanent Resident of Australia, you may be eligible to apply for a de-facto visa. Information on this visa can be found here:

Apply onshore in Australia - Subclass 820 // 801

Apply offshore and overseas - Subclass 309 // 100

(1.3) Sponsored Visa

Cost = $4,000.00

Length = Dependant on Visa - Generally 2+ years

There are several Sponsored Visa options that you can apply for to live and work in Australia on a longer to more permanent basis. These can be direct with the State or Territory you wish to work in, rather than direct with an Employer (School), which gives you more freedom/autonomy to choose your employer.

As we are not experts within Migration and Australia's visa options can be complex, we recommend the following company to contact to understand your options.

David Wang – Director @ AusDirect Migration

(1.4) Student Visa

Some individuals will study postgraduate degrees in Australia, which can open routes to remain in Australia on a temporary or permanent basis. These are considered Graduate Visa's and details can be found on the Australian Government website.
